

Description of Research	My research has been clinical and across the lifespan. I have a particular interest in the development and evaluation of early post traumatic event interventions. Currently, I am studying the use of prazosin in the aftermath of sexual assault in women. The hypothesis is that the prevention of nightmares and sleep disturbance will prevent the onset of PTSD and other long term psychiatric sequelae.
Methodology	RCT
Clinical and special developmental populations	All ages. I am a child and adolescent psychiatrist
