First Time U.S. News & World Report Ranks Bachelor of Science in Nursing Programs
Out of 694 programs, University of Colorado College of Nursing Ranks #31

AURORA, Colo. (November 4, 2021) – The University of Colorado College of Nursing is ranked the #31 Best Bachelor of Science in Nursing programs, according to U.S. News & World Report's 2022 Best Colleges rankings. This is the first time in the history of the rankings that the publication has rated undergraduate nursing programs. CU College of Nursing also ranked #17 in online master's in nursing programs out of 194 schools.

According to U.S. News & World Report, the Bachelor of Science in Nursing programs rankings are determined by the average scores received from surveys of top academics and officials at nursing schools or departments. "These officials rated the overall quality of undergraduate BSN programs they were familiar with on a 1-5 scale," says U.S. News. To be eligible for ranking, nursing programs had to receive bachelor's-level accreditation by one of two national accrediting institutions – the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education or the Accreditation Commission for Education in Nursing; and must have awarded at least 35 BSN degrees in 2018-2019.
